

Watson Pest Management

For the last eleven years, our family has relied on the excellent services of Watson Pest Control for our home exterminating needs. From the onset, we found this El Paso business to be a trustworthy, client-oriented, supportive entity that provides superb customer care! From the time we met our first Watson technician, to the young man who treated our home just yesterday; we have always been pleased with their professional, friendly service.

Watson specializes in residential, commercial and industrial pest control, including treatments for general pests (no, not your in-laws or neighbors) like silverfish, ants, roaches, etc. They also treat termites and/or provide preventive maintenance. And if you are cursed with unwanted rodents or animals, the folks at Watson know just how to solve your pesky problem! Their friendly, knowledgeable, consistently service-oriented attitude is the foundation upon which the Vranish family continues to send our business their way! If you are interested in the same sort of reliable experience, trust that Watson Pest Management can take care of your pest control problems!
